FOR THE COMMUNITY

The community newspaper is the one that has a long life before it. There was a time in the long ago when we had newspapers of national importance and note—with a circulation everywhere. That is no longer necessary. Even the biggest of the newspapers has its circumscribed field. New York does not get into Chicago to any extent. Baltimore and Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Boston newspapers are seldom seen in this section of the world. Those who take them are like the people who take the Gazette at far distances—they use the paper as a letter from home. The Gazette fills a field—its community in Southern Wisconsin. True, it is constantly widening and more territory is being added. That is the aim of the Gazette—to serve this community better each day, to make a newspaper that can be read by everybody and filled, not only with the spot news, but added features which give it more value to the subscriber. That is why the Saturday and Sunday Gazette is growing in circulation and accumulating friends each week. This week the paper is to be better than ever. Join the Gazette family.

WITH THE FARMERS

Farm Bureau Official Information

NEED WISCONSIN SUPPLY OF SEEDS

Production of More Home Grown Alfalfa Seed Urged by R. A. MOORE.

Wisconsin College of Agriculture. Wisconsin should grow a large portion of her own alfalfa seed to reduce the cost of seeding her fields to this great crop.

Farmers of Wisconsin for many years have been dependent upon the western grown alfalfa seed or that grown in Europe for their growth of alfalfa hay. This continued to such an extent that farms of the west organized in some instances to merely boost prices on the unprotected eastern farmer. This, however, was not true in all organizations and some organized for the benefit of the farmer by putting good clean alfalfa seed on the market. These people are so commended and their seed is entitled to a home grown seed.

However, I do not think that the price should vary from year to year, as running from 50 to 60 cents per bushel as this seed is produced in the eastern farmers in attempting to grow alfalfa at all when he considers that in order to have fair results he must not only have his land tilled, but must sow about 20 pounds of alfalfa seed to the acre. We feel that the time has come when Wisconsin should grow a considerable portion of her own seed. In 1921 over 2,500 bushels of seed were grown in the state; in 1922, which was not so favorable for seed production, Wisconsin produced 1,500 bushels. We secured by law how many bushels of seed were produced in Wisconsin in 1923, but we know that one single farmer produced 75 bushels of pure Grimm seed which averaged over three bushels per acre.

We know that there cannot be any better seed than what can be grown in this state. Many farmers, however, feel that they cannot grow the seed as profitably. Hence we hope to give information in the near future which will be very helpful to farmers in the growing of alfalfa seed. A seed crop is a seed crop, and at the expense of two hay crops, which a farmer feels is too much of a loss for securing seed. However, many farmers now are practicing the two crop system which has been found through experimentation to be fully as good and better than trying to take three crops. If we adopted this practice, it would not only mean that we would have one crop of hay for the crop of seed and there would be no necessity of that if the field was watched closely.

Can Develop Local Sources. Alfalfa seed sows best in hot, dry weather. The flower is so delicate that frequently showers would destroy the pollen so that there would be very little seed produced on the alfalfa. If this were watched carefully and it was found by the farmer that the seed wouldn't set well, he could cut his alfalfa at the stage of cutting.

The growing of alfalfa seed is quite largely a matter of judgment, and in many cases the fields would not be saved at all if it was found that the plants were not going to give a paying crop. It isn't always that the farmer sows his second crop of clover for seed. It depends wholly whether or not the clover sets seed well. If it doesn't, invariably the crop is cut for hay. The same thing is true with alfalfa and the reason that many farmers have been discouraged is largely through the fact that the crop is saved and cut, regardless of whether seed had developed properly or not. This should be discouraged and proper information given to the farmer as to the best method to pursue.

It seems to me that the time is at hand in Wisconsin in now acknowledged as the foremost purebred seed state in America, and that we should not be dependent upon outside agencies for nearly all the alfalfa seed sown in our state. Wisconsin can grow her own seed and grow it at a profit, and why not get in line at the earliest opportunity and do what we are able to do?

Let Kellogg's Bran free your children from that dangerous disease—constipation Children are subject to constipation. In the excitement of play, they neglect themselves and foster this dangerous disease. More than forty other diseases can be traced to constipation. Don't delay. Begin at once to cleanse their systems of the dangerous poisons.

Kellogg's Bran sweeps the intestine clean—and purifies it. It drives out the poisons which undermine your children's health. It makes the bowels function regularly and naturally.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krambled, is guaranteed to bring results if eaten regularly, or your grocer will return your money. It is guaranteed because it is ALL bran! Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Kellogg's Bran is recommended by doctors everywhere—they know from experience that it brings results.

Have your children eat it regularly—two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. They will like its wonderful, nut-like flavor—so different from common bran which are most unpalatable.

As a cereal, with milk or cream, they will enjoy Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krambled, it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in delicious muffins, bread, griddle cakes and other recipes given on every package.

But start them eating Kellogg's Bran to-day. Start every member of your family eating it. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krambled, is made in Battle Creek and is served in individual packages by the leading hotels and clubs everywhere. Ask for it at your restaurant. It is sold by all grocers.

Salvation Army Will Seek New Local Quarters

The building at 109-11 North Main street, now the Salvation Army, may be disposed of if quarters better adapted to the activities now being carried on can be secured. Officers of advisory board have been authorized by division headquarters to consider a change of this nature, and J. P. Hammarlund, chairman of the headquarters committee, will investigate possible new sites at once and receive offers for the North Main street property.

One of the chief reasons for the contemplated change is that quarters in present building, though improved at considerable expense, will not be entirely satisfactory for day nursery purposes. The day nursery and welfare center in Madison is located in a large residence adjacent to the business district and it is believed that some such building with yard for the use of the day nursery children would be more suitable for the local institution. The executive committee will consider the matter further at the monthly meeting next Monday.

Mrs. George Boyle has gone to her mother's home at Calumet, Mich., for 10 days' recuperation. Capt. Judith Anderson will remain here until Mrs. Boyle's return.

EXPLOITATION FOR PUBLICITY SCORED

Newspaper Greatest "Sucker" in World, Editor Tells State Scribes.

(By Associated Press.)
Milwaukee.—The greatest "sucker" that in the world is a newspaper directory containing names of all publishers of newspapers, on whom publicity men, seeking free advertising in news columns, feed to their hearts content, declared Stephen Bolles, editor of the Janesville Daily Gazette, before the annual convention of the Wisconsin Press association here today.

National advertisers, drives and publicity campaigns, movie propaganda, modern fashion, packing house news, advantages of various kinds of paving, increased use of this and that—all these and more were sold to the business of the newspaperman and publisher.

Waste Basket, Remedy
"And for the government out of the United States," asserted Mr. Bolles, "we have filled the ranks of the army and navy and the marines, sent people to government employment bureaus, spent columns of space for the civil service commission, shortened the alights, lengthened them, put play on women's faces and washed it off with cosmetic soap, and the nation with cosmetics and sold the lady an automobile."

"The remedy is with the publisher," Mr. Bolles added. The country editor, and for that matter the publisher of the metropolitan newspaper, should invest liberally in waste paper baskets.

Printers Weekly Press

Declaring the power of the weekly press is as great as it ever was, John A. Kuypers, De Pere, president of the Wisconsin Press association, at the annual meeting of the organization here today, urged that more devotion, more energy and more unselfishness be shown in following "our chosen profession."

New Club Plans Township Rally

The Community club recently organized by residents of the new consolidated district, will invite the people of the rural school districts, town of Janesville, and community clubs to participate in a township get-together and recreation institute in connection with Home and Community Week, March 1-5. The decision was reached at a club meeting Thursday night following presentation of the plans by Mrs. Florence S. Hyde of the Gazette. The new suit graded building has ample facilities for an all-day affair with a basket dinner at noon and residents of other districts will be invited to accept the invitation readily.

The tentative plans for the county-wide observance of Play week outline a program for a recreation institute to be held in each township. Volunteer speakers, song leaders and game demonstration leaders are being enlisted by the Gazette community department. Any organization may take the initiative and invite the people of the township to Join with them in planning and carrying out the institute.

Six reels of motion pictures were presented at the Gazette at the meeting Thursday night. Receipts amounted to $18.50. "Mugsy," an entertaining five-reel photoplay, was the feature of the film program. Mrs. O. D. Bruce is president of the club, and Mrs. Harold Russell is secretary. About 125 were present. The next meeting will be held in two weeks.

Plans for the observance of Play week were discussed by the Johnstown Center Community club at their regular meeting Wednesday in the home of Mrs. J. J. Adams, but definite action was deferred until the next meeting. Mrs. A. M. Ryser was appointed as press chairman to send notices and reports of club meetings to the Gazette.

A man must feel awfully upset when he finds himself heels over head in love.

Her husky words and her sincere smile were more than he could endure. Turning words flamed on his tongue's end. He opened his mouth to speak. The figure of the girl dissolved into a red mist shot with lightning. The red mist faded to a brilliant soft darkness, a darkness that became blackness. He felt himself sinking down, down—down. When he came to, he looked up into her anxious, tear-stained face. She was bathing his face with water from his hat.

"Thank God!" she exclaimed shrilly. "I was scared—maybe you'd left me!"

The words fell pleasantly on his ear. He read a hidden meaning. But he made no comment at the moment.

"I don't know what made me act that way," he said, ashamed of the weakness that had laid him on his back. "I would fight in a minute."

"Where's my gun?"

She told him, adding, "And if you have any brains you'll leave it there. Pap could drop out five times while you were getting it once."

"I'll take your word for it. I'll get my gun some other time. Where's your gun—where's that?"

"Your saddle gun—where's that?"

"In my saddle bag with the Hawkins' stillery. If I'd been wearing that shoulder gun like I should have, I could have dropped my horse in two shakes. My judgment today has been low-slow. I pulled myself into a sitting position. She made as if to help him, but he waved her away.

"I'm all right now," he insisted. "I feel like a day in June. Look here, jokin' aside, you and I better make the rifle together. No, now listen, Lemma finish. You need somebody to take care of you the first way the best—aw, you know what I mean. And I can take care of you. I've got a good rifle and I'm not losing money. I could make you comfortable. You could have what you liked. I—uh—told. Here, I reddened to the tips of his ears. "I wouldn't bother you a-tall. But I'd sure love after you."

She smiled sweetly at him and patted the back of his hand where it lay between them on the grass. But she shook her head. "No," she told him. "It wouldn't do. But you don't want to marry me, and you know it. And I'm not letting anybody marry me out of pity. Why, some day, you'll meet the real Miss Right and then where would you be if you were already married to me. Wouldn't you be in a pretty pickle? No, I don't think any more about it. Bill."

"All right, Dolly. I won't."

"It was always 'Dolly' and 'Bill' after that."

CHAPTER THIRTEEN
The Saddle and Bridle

"Where's Hank and Thorn?" demanded the sheriff abruptly. Pap unhesitatingly selected a chair and seated himself before replying.

Dinner Stories

Casey had been married only a week when he discovered that his wife, who had assumed control of household and larder, was inclined to be stingy. He had been working in his lot one afternoon when wife came to the back door and called out in strident tones: "Terrence, come in to eat, tonight, and bacon and folk's eggs!"

Terrence dropped his spade in astonishment and ran into the kitchen. "Sure, ye're only kiddin' me," he said. "No, Terrence," said the wife; "it's not ye; it's the neighbors I'm kiddin'."

A French woman, proud of her limited knowledge of English, and an American woman, proud of her limited knowledge of French, were introduced at an evening party. The French woman insisted on expressing herself in bad English, and the American woman would talk nothing but bad French.

When the guests began to depart they were still at it. At last they rose to go, and said their watery farewells.

"Reservé," said the American.

"Tanks," responded the new friend.

Elizabeth came to school one day in a state of suppressed anger. Going straight to the teacher's desk, she exclaimed excitedly:

"I've got a new little sister."

"How very nice," replied the teacher.

"Yes," said Elizabeth, "but this is only a half-sister."

"Why, that doesn't make any difference," replied the teacher.

"No," but I never can understand where the other half is."

WAKE UP FRESH AND VIGOROUS AFTER USING VEGETABLE SYRUP

There are lots of people here who are neither very well nor very sick, but who never really feel their best at this time of the year. And the trouble, in the majority of cases, is due to the sluggishness of one vital organ.

This organ is your liver! When working properly it aids digestion, prevents constipation and purifies your blood. When it is clogged up with impurities, it cannot do these three things until it is properly cleansed and toned. Consequently you often wake up mornings feeling dull and tired, tongue coated, complexion sallow, digestion poor—often constipated, nervous and upset. You catch cold easily and your system is too run-down to throw off these ailments. You continue to feel badly until your liver has been properly cleansed and toned.

Get quick relief! Take just a spoonful of Dr. Thacher's Liver & Blood Syrup. Notice the quick difference in the way you look, eat, sleep and feel. This vegetable syrup contains only ingredients that are known to the medical profession as their corrective and health-building properties. It is pleasant to take, and you will be completely satisfied; and your blood purifiers will return the small cost.

Dr. Thacher's Liver & Blood Syrup is sold and recommended by McCue and Buss Drug Company, Smith's Pharmacy and J. H. Bliss in Janesville; Atwell-Dallman Drug Company and Dean Swift in Edgemoor; R. J. Collins in Evansville, and by leading druggists in every city and town. —Advertisement.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred is happy to advise all mothers about the care of their children, and on any subject which does not belong in the field of the doctor.

Mrs. B. B. B. writes: "I would like to have you suggest something for me to do for my baby's constipation. He is a little past two months old and is unable to have a bowel movement without the aid of a suppository, but this does not help and finally I had to give him a small suppository. He is perfectly healthy in every other way and is a breast-fed baby. I nurse him for 10 minutes three times a day and he takes one-half pound per week. I do not like to give him physiotherapy and would like to do away with the suppositories. Will they be harmful to him? It is necessary to feed at the same hours every day. Some days at 3, 6 and 9 o'clock, and other days at 3, 7 and 10."

It would be perfectly all right to start giving the baby orange and prune juice daily. Give one teaspoon of either, diluted with the same amount of water, one hour before the 9 or 10 o'clock feeding. You can repeat the same before the bedtime nursing. Your baby is progressing so fast that it is evident your milk is very rich, and this sometimes causes a stubborn constipation. Give the baby one tablespoon of boiled water before each nursing, which will be helpful in diluting the fats of the milk. The glycerine suppositories are all right for short time use, but they are very drying to the rectum, as are most suppositories. For constant use, nothing else is the best. If you habituate the baby to having a movement at the same time every day, by the use of the suppositories, it will be possible to do away with them shortly.

The only bad feature about diversified hours is that the baby tends to bed at different times each night. Otherwise there is no real harm, so long as the intervals are constant.

Heart and Home Problems

By ELIZABETH THOMPSON. Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

A YOUNG GIRL'S SORROW
Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 14 years old and in the eighth grade. I am the only girl at home, but have a brother four years older than I who is very cross to me. My parents are always scolding or slapping me when they don't have any reason for doing so. I am a mother you will be able to profit by your own sad experience and suffering. One of the pitiful things in life is that many children are misunderstood and misinterpreted. Try to keep your heart full of love so that when you are old enough to be free your life will not be spoiled by bitterness and resentment.

I have a few friends, but am not allowed to speak to them. There is one boy who is very polite and I like him very much. One day our neighbors saw me talking to this boy. Just as soon as he got a chance he told my mother. "This made me very angry, for she scolded me as usual and also slapped me. She also said that if she caught me talking to him again she was going to send me away. Do you think she is treating me right? I haven't done a thing that she has cause to be so angry with me for. I am getting discouraged by always being scolded and slapped like this, and not even being permitted to talk to a single boy."

Please give me your advice as to what I should do. I will not stand this very much longer.

LONGSOME BLUES,
At the age of thirteen you are very young to have "boy friends" and I can see that your mother would object to your standing talking to a boy. To slap me and talk to him as if you were bad, is not the kind of treatment you should have, however, because it only fills your heart with resentment and hatred. I heartily condemn your mother's behavior. Add salt to whites and beat stiff. Beat yolks and sugar until creamy. Add orange juice and rind and then pour gradually. Add whites, stiff beating powder over them and fold into batter. Drop in spoonfuls into greased tin and bake in hot oven.

Orange Cream—Take one pint milk, three eggs, one-half cup orange juice, also grated rind, two-thirds cup sugar, one-half pint cream and one tablespoon gelatin. Place milk and half of the cream in double boiler. Soak gelatin in orange juice. Beat yolks and remaining sugar until creamy. Add to hot milk and stir until it thickens. Add gelatin and orange juice and mix well. Pour in teaspoon salt. Cool. When it begins to stiffen add stiffly beaten whites, beat thoroughly, then fold in the cream which has been whipped and set to harden in large or individual molds. Serve with plain cream or sweetened orange juice.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder discomfort.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, refreshing beverage. By its use you can have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Beauty Chats

By EDNA KENT FORBES

Most forms of freckles are easily cured. Here, for instance, is a formula which has been tested successfully for many years:

Citric acid (lemon).....3 drams
Hot water.....11 ounces
Borax.....1 ounce
Red rose petals.....1 ounce
Glycerine.....2 ounces

The acid and the borax are dissolved in water, the petals added and the whole left for an hour. Four it into a jelly base and let the mixture drip for 24 hours. Take the clear part and add the glycerine.

If you buy these ingredients separately, to make the formula at home, be very careful about the glycerine you get. It must be pure. The market is full of impure varieties, but these should be avoided. Pure glycerine is one of the most valuable beauty preparations and it is a solvent for coloring matter, hence its value for sunburn and freckles. It softens the skin and bleaches it. It is also a skin tonic, itching and soothes irritation. But it only does this if it is pure. If it is impure it is so drying and generally harmful that in fact, the only reason why cheap beauty preparations should be avoided.

A still simpler freckle lotion is made of one ounce of glycerine, one ounce of peroxide of hydrogen and one ounce of witch hazel. This is most effective if applied at night and allowed to dry on the skin. In addition to these two, there are any number of freckle lotions containing a complicated number of chemicals which cannot be made up at home. Some of these are good, some bad. A safe test is the pure and the character of the skin which tells them. A good shop will not sell harmful preparations.

When you wake up in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to get rid of the acids, and they become sort of paralyzed and sluggish. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's wastes, else you have backache, stiff headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water seals and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder discomfort.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, refreshing beverage. By its use you can have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Decides on Best Life Insurance

"Five years ago I was refused life insurance because of my heart symptoms. Doctors said it was caused from a pressure of gas that came from my stomach, but their medicine did not help me and I was getting very trouble at once." It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allows the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

JOINT EASE for Stiff, Swollen Joints

Rheumatic or Otherwise
Says: "When Joint-Ease Gets in—Joint Agony Gets Out."
It was a high-class pharmacist who saw prescription after prescription fall to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and stiff inflamed joints.
And it was this same man who asserted that a remedy could and should be compounded that would make creaky, swollen, tormented joints work with just as much smoothness as they ever did.
Now this prescription, rightly named Joint-Ease, after being tested successfully on many obstinate cases, is offered through progressive pharmacists to the millions of people who suffer from ailing joints that need relief.
Swollen, twinged, inflamed, stiff, pain-tormented joints are usually caused by rheumatism, but whatever the cause, Joint-Ease soaks right in, through the skin and flesh, gets right to and corrects the trouble at its source.
Remember Joint-Ease is for all points of the joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, spine or finger, and when you rub it on, you may expect speedy and gratifying results.
It is now on sale at druggists everywhere for 60 cents a tube.—Advertisement.

Stubborn Coughs Stop Quick With Home Made Cough Mixture

Not until you make your own cough mixture—just a half pint of it for a small sum—will you know how easy it is to stop any bad persistent cough as it by magic.
It's pleasant-tasting, but that don't stop it from knocking out a cough quicker than anything else in the world. Children love it.
Get from McCue & Buss or any druggist one ounce of Parvinal (double strength)—to this add a little granulated sugar as directed and enough water to make one half pint.—That's all there is to it.
This loosens the phlegm, stops the irritation, allays the inflammation, cleans out clogged nostrils, makes breathing easier, and causes sore throat and hoarseness to disappear.
With speed almost beyond belief this home made cough mixture stops the toughest, hang-on cough, and all because in it there is a substance (too costly for ordinary cough syrups) which acts almost beyond belief like a soothing healing poultice and blessed relief comes at once.—Advertisement.

MOSES' FAREWELL ADDRESS

COMMENT ON THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR FEBRUARY 3, 1924.

Read Deuteronomy 4 Chapters.

WM. SOUTHERN, JR.

At the close of the revolution when the victorious army of the colonies was about to be disbanded, General Washington delivered his farewell address to the army. He reviewed the hardships and the perils through which they had come and gave to God the credit in these words:

"The signal interpositions of Providence in our feeble condition were such as could scarcely escape the attention of the most unobscuring; while the unparalleled perseverance of the armies of the United States, suffering almost every possible privation and discouragement for the space of eight long years, was little short of a standing miracle."

Forty years after Moses had led the Israelites out of Egypt and they were at the border of the land God had promised them, Moses delivered his farewell address. It is found in the first four chapters of Deuteronomy, a portion of which is chosen as our lesson text by the International Committee. The address was given in the wilderness, in the plain over against the Red Sea, between Paran and Tophel and Laban and Hazeroth and Bazarah.

Moses gave all the credit to God for the deliverance of his people from Egypt. He asked them: "Did I ever say to you, 'I will bring you into the land which I have sworn unto your fathers, saying, I will give it unto you?'"

The closeness of the parallel between the wonderful story of God's care over the Israelites and of our own history in the United States becomes more marvelous as we study the histories. Washington could have found his words of faith in the guidance of God in the address of Moses. J. Howard Childley in his Story Sermons for children, says that the selection of the Eagle as an emblem for our nation comes from God's word spoken by Moses when he told Israel: "Ye have seen what I did unto the Egyptians and how I bore you on eagles' wings and brought you unto myself." It is said that Jefferson was responsible for the eagle as the emblem upon our great seal. Men have said that Jefferson was an Atheist, but I shall never believe it. Washington was a devout churchman and above the entrance to his tomb is inscribed a verse from the New Testament.

In his farewell address, Moses reviewed the history of 40 years, most of them spent near Mount Sinai. He recalled to his people the bringing of the law, the Ten Words engraved upon the tablets of stone. We call them the "Ten Commandments" and they stand today as they have stood for more than 2,000 years the basis of all civilized law. They form the great constitution of the church upon which have been based all statutes. Men have tried to rewrite and improve upon the ten commandments, men have confessed to scorn them, but they stand today brighter and more fundamental than ever before, a declaration of principles by which we measure every moral code.

Incidents of the years as did General Washington when he bade farewell to his soldiers and like Washington, we must conclude that "The signal interpositions of Providence could scarcely escape the attention of the most unobscuring."

INTEREST HIGH IN STREET RENAMING

Valuable Suggestions Contained in First Batch of Mail to Street Name Editor.

Valuable suggestions for the aid of councilmen in reaching a decision on new names for four Janesville streets are contained in the first batch of letters received by the Street Names Editor, and the early response is indicative of great interest among the residents of streets where name changes are proposed.

While most of those registering their sentiments so far regret the idea that changes will be necessary, they apparently realize the wisdom of doing away with the duplication of Washington avenue and Washington street, Park avenue and Park street, West Bluff street and North and South Bluff streets, Center avenue and Center street.

Madison Drive Suggested.
The name of Madison drive is suggested by one woman as the most appropriate name for Center avenue. It takes advantage of your invitation to suggest new names for the streets," says another writer. "As it is customary to name streets and boulevards after great men, most whose names will live long after they have departed this life; and inasmuch as a great man now resides on Center avenue, I would suggest that such street be called Madison boulevard."

Another person enters a protest against the proposal of changing the name of Center avenue, it being a main thoroughfare, and suggests that instead the name of Center street be changed to Central street, or something else, it being a side street.

Retain Center Avenue, Please.
"In regard to the proposed change in the name of our street (Center avenue)," says this woman, "I would say that having been a resident on this street for 40 years, I would greatly dislike to have the name changed. As others have phoned me about the change, I feel that a great majority, if not all, are opposed to it. A petition may be circulated, if necessary, but we think this request would be sufficient."

"Center avenue is one of the principal streets and it would seem absurd to change it to a side street," would Main or Milwaukee streets. Center street could easily be changed to Central, or some other name, as it is a side street, and not as public a thoroughfare as Center avenue. It would not cause so much confusion and opposition as it would in changing the name of dear old Center avenue."

"I trust this request may meet your approval and be granted, without further effort or protest."

The Street Names Editor of the Gazette is informed that the chief idea of changing the name of Center avenue was because it is practically a continuation of Madison street—or Madison street is a continuation of Center avenue—whichever you prefer.

Wilson Avenue Is Liked.
"In regard to changing the name of Washington avenue," a resident of that street says, "if we must have a change, I would suggest the name of Wilson avenue."

"This sounds good. Are there any more who like it? If you do, any so in a letter or post card to the Street Names Editor—if you don't write in another suggestion."

The name of Grant avenue is suggested for West Bluff street, but Janesville already has a Grant avenue. It is only two blocks long, located just south of the Monterey bridge, off Center avenue.

Abolish Park Street.
Rather than abolish Park avenue, named for the Fourth ward park, "Observer" suggests that Park street's name be changed, as it is only a short street and has no connection with a park.

"I rise to say that the changing of name of a street when said street has been in use a good many years," says "Observer." "is looked upon with disfavor by the owners and occupants of the street whose name is sought to be changed."

"But I do believe that similarities and part duplication of names should be avoided and where possible be corrected."

"I note that 'Park avenue' and 'Park street' are under consideration and discussion."

"It would seem to me that Park avenue should not be considered in the change, for the reason that when that street was opened it legitimately derived its name from the fact its course did go to and pass the Fourth ward park, which fact actuated its name when the street was opened.

"But in the case of Park street" in the Third ward (now Sixth) the naming of it seemed anomalous; it is a short street (only three blocks), starting at Court street, ending at South Third street, and has not any significance of "park" connected with it. Therefore Park street could with all consistency be renamed.

"While I have no particular interest in its new name, yet permit me to suggest the names Willow street, Short street, Home or Wilson street, I. e., Willow street because of its willow shade trees thereon; Short street because of its extreme short length; Home or Wilson street because Dr. Horne and Charles T. Wilson were old-time property owners and residents of that street."

DOUBLE LICENSE ON DANCES PROTESTED

Widespread dissatisfaction is being expressed in Janesville over the county board's sudden action, Wednesday, in voting that Janesville and other cities of the county be subjected to the new county dance license ordinance. The protests are based on the grounds that Janesville already has a dance ordinance being well enforced and does not need county regulation any more than a dog needs two tails. It is admitted that the provisions of the city ordinance are more stringent than those of the county's.

It is expected the matter will be discussed by the city council at its next meeting and some kind of a policy formulated. The feeling expressed most generally over the supervisors' action is that it is unjust and unfair, an oppressive method of increasing taxation, by going out of their way to hit the cities over the head, requiring a county license fee in addition to a city license.

The fact that the ordinance was amended entirely without warning to the city, was proposed, amended and adopted all in one day, is also a point of strong protest. It is declared the city was entirely unaware that any such action was even thought of, as only two weeks previous the ordinance had been adopted as excepting Janesville, Deloit and Edgerton, and there was no indication that any changes would be made. The county board has the power to exempt from its dance ordinance cities in which the situation is already satisfactorily regulated.

The city spends from $20,000 to $30,000 a year on its police department, and $10,000 to $50,000 on its fire department, and feels well able to support and enforce its own ordinances without county interference, one official declared.

Makes Rules High.
As the new county ordinance and the Janesville ordinance are interpreted today, a dance hall owner in this city will be required to pay an annual fee of $25 to the city and $10 to the county. A person giving a public dance will have to pay $5 for a city permit and $5 for a county permit and have both city and county dance inspectors on duty.

While he has not yet gone into the question thoroughly, City Attorney Isaac G. Cunningham is of the same opinion as District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie, namely, that both ordinances are applicable to Janesville.

Jefferson County Dairymen Hold Two Meetings in Port Atkinson.

"Pay attention to the production of quality products and diversify your business," was the message sounded by G. I. Christie, Purdue College of Agriculture, during the meeting of the Jefferson County Dairymen's Association held in Port Atkinson Thursday. There were 151 at the banquet meeting in the afternoon and 300 at the "milk" and dance held in the Janesville auditorium in the evening.

"Farmers can be assured that by improving their product there will always be a market."

"Modern farming is of a different type than that of yesterday, for the really independent farmer is a thing of the past," declared Christie, proving his point by showing that only a small percentage of the products used and employed by the farmer on his own farm were "home products." The development of home products was urged, it being declared Pacific coast poultry men were selling eggs over the heads of the corn belt farmers, fruit growing districts were marketing apples that for quality could not be compared to Wisconsin fruit. To successfully market any farm product, it was declared, the farmer must distribute them as the market demands and in a form the consumer wants.

H. A. Main, president of the Jefferson County Dairymen's Association, presided during both meetings. In the evening the gold badge awarded for excellent work in the junior clubs of the state was awarded to Irene Marsden, Guernsey calf club member.

REFUND IN TAXES ON INCOMES SURE UNDER AGREEMENT

Like to see the twenty-five percent reduction which applies to 1923 incomes made a part of the general tax bill so that the course of the latter will be accelerated. Indeed, public opinion may now be expected to get behind the tax measure with unparalleled strength so that the tax payer may actually enjoy on March 15 next a reduction in taxes.

The democrats will try of course to separate the new proposal from the main tax bill on the ground that it needs quick action and that the tax bill which will apply to 1924 incomes can be debated for the rest of the present year if necessary without doing anybody any harm. In answer to this the republicans will say that business should not be kept on the anxious seat but should know definitely during 1924 what taxes are to be payable in 1925.

The Fourth Debate.

As for the taxes that individuals will pay next March on their incomes of 1923, there are many who pay their whole tax bill in a lump sum and do not divide it into quarterly installments. These persons would get a one fourth rebate later on if the new proposal isn't passed by March 15. On the other hand, the tax payers who pay one fourth on March 15, one fourth on June 15, one fourth on Sept. 15 and one fourth on Dec. 15, would have the privilege of omitting one installment so as to get the benefit of the one-fourth reduction to which they are entitled.

The republicans have taken the initiative in reducing taxes for 1923. Both parties are vying with each other to give the people a tax reduction. Little is heard about the bonus Mr. Mellon's tentative approval to add to be based upon a desire to know what obligations will be incurred in connection with the bonus.

The republicans realize that to pass the original bonus bill would prompt the treasury to say that the tax reduction was not possible, at least for 1923 incomes.

Under the circumstances the republicans now are discussing among themselves a plan for a soldier bonus which is in the nature of a public insurance policy but without the privilege of borrowing cash on it, as provided in the bill which went through both houses last year but which Mr. Harding vetoed.

The republicans would like to get a bonus bill through. The chances are that they will find it necessary to pass the original bill in order to fulfill pledges already given but when the measure fails to get enough votes to pass over the president's veto then a proposal will be made to strip the bill of the cash features and enable the soldiers to enjoy none of the various forms of aid which do not require an immediate cash outlay.

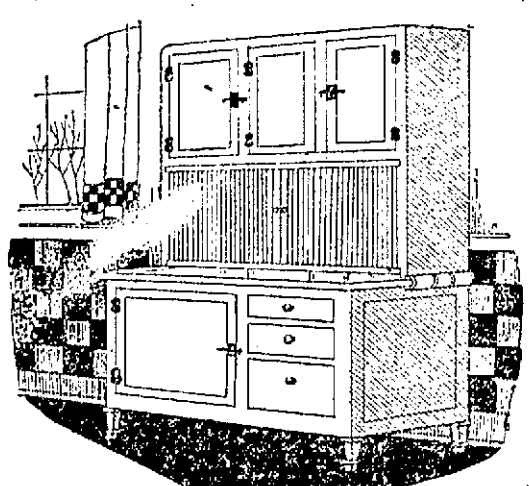

Vocational training, land grants and other things which it has hitherto been thought would not be chosen by the ex-servicemen when cash was offered would then become more attractive.

A bill which does not require a large cash outlay, either now or in the future, undoubtedly would get President Coolidge's approval so that the republicans might go to the country in the coming campaign with a tax reduction applying to 1923 incomes another reduction applying to 1924 incomes and a soldier bonus besides.
